

Time Matters | Perfect Lines: Observation

Local artists David and Hi-Jin Hodge present Time Matters | Perfect Lines: Observation, a new photographic and video exhibition. Composed of two beautiful works set in digital photo frames and color photographs, using disciplined but unique approaches.

Time Matters is a series of six video explorations that observe scenes and objects through images taken at specific intervals or times of the day. The work examines six themes: Water, Sky, Forest, Place, Body, and Spin, opening up a fresh perspective on the subjects that is always missed when we observe it one second at a time.

Perfect Lines examines the startling effect produced when edges meet. It presents a series of ten photographs using a compositional discipline that ensures that each element occupies half of the visual content of the image.

About artists

David and Hi-Jin Hodge have created video installations for artistic exhibitions around the world. Their pieces typically blend editorial materials and innovative uses of technology to explore complex human and social questions. Above all, they create aesthetically appealing work that identifies foundational principles and expands on them through multiple viewpoints.

Their work encompasses both new and traditional types of media. They've shown ocean views on the side of a 40-story office building in downtown Seoul and were the first to use video iPods in an artistic installation. Currently they are at work creating new installations for their first solo exhibition: Closer by the Minute. These include explorations of topics ranging from the effect of the automobile on our lives to the question of what we leave behind. The exhibition will begin its journey at the Loyola University Museum of Art, Chicago in the summer of 2011.
